Southern Governors Hear Stand Against Civil Rights Revolt As Came In 1948

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Nov. 12.—(P)—Southern governors turned to the politically red-hot subject of civil rights today. Some Dixie leaders stiffened their opposition to any Democratic "Beat Truman" campaign in next year's presidential election.

Outspoken resistance to a states right Democrat revolt was one of the surprise developments in the conference as pro-Truman forces stole the first day limelight from the President's political foes.

This stand against a revolt was certain to receive strong backing tonight from House speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas. Rayburn, a staunch Democrat, is reported ready to call for party loyalty from all southern Democrats regardless of who the nominee might be.

Bring Up Civil Rights

The civil rights issue, the main reason some southerners bolted the party three years ago, was raised first by Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi. He was the states rights candidate for vice president in 1948.

Speaking as conference chairman, Wright declared that states rights "is a phrase embracing a philosophy of government in which we here in the south believe and take pride in defending."

He said: "Regardless of what others say, we in Mississippi are determined that the segregated educational system shall be maintained. We recognized our responsibility and our obligation to furnish equal facilities for both Negro and white students."

And then Harry Ashmore, executive editor of the Little Rock Arkansas Gazette, told the governors: "Segregation Cost Explained"

"The high cost of segregation has held back the overall development of our educational institutions. Ashmore added: "The practical problem before the south, then, is to preserve social segregation while at the same time meeting the demands of a world which demands full civil liberties and full equality of opportunity be extended to all citizens without discrimination."

Both Wright and Ashmore presented their views in addresses prepared for delivery before the conference.

Wright accused a "small group of Negroes in Mississippi" of trying to break down segregation in the schools of his state. He added they are "lending aid and comfort to those who seek to destroy the public school system of the south." Ashmore said the Negro problem had become "the emotional issue of the hour." He also criticized those who meddled in the south's affairs without understanding them.

2 Governors for HST

On the political front, two governors spoke strongly for President Truman and turned thumbs down to any rebellion that would split the Democratic party.

Gov. Sid McMath of Arkansas said: "I don't think this conference will be the scene of any Democratic revolt." I think the governors will stick strictly to the agenda which is non-political."

The civil rights issue was raised in connection with the governors' discussion of the south's educational problems.

Josef Meier, Who Takes Role of Christus In Passion Play, Tells of God as Friend

Speaking of the person whose character he portrays in the Black Hills Passion Play, Josef Meier told Rotarians and their guests Monday noon: "He wants our friendship and wants us to have Him with us at all times. He wants us to ask Him for help. As our friend, he wants us to continue with Him, and if we accept Him as our friend in our daily lives, the results of that association will show in our living."

Mr. Meier portrays, as his ancestors did before him, the Christus in the oldest stage presentation of the world. He told the crowd at the Rotary club meeting, held at the Bothwell hotel, of the play, of its origin in 1942, and its long life in Europe before being brought to America. Of his feeling toward playing the role of the Man of Nazareth, Mr. Meier told of his experience, trained from childhood for this and other parts in the play, he had found in the other roles he was able to analyze the characters and to fit himself into their personality.

When he finally came to the place in life when he was first to portray the Christus, he found the Man defied analysis. He confessed he was confronted by something great, something magnificent, a man of perfection.

Going to his father to ask how he could step into the important role, Meier said his parent told him he could give the son all the

Argentina Returns Peron To Presidency

Another Six Years Given Him In Record Election On Sunday

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 12.—(P)—Argentina has returned President Juan D. Peron to another six years of power in a record-breaking election which gave him a thumping majority over his main opposition.

Peron's chief opponents, the Radical party, conceded his overwhelming victory on the basis of government figures and unofficial incomplete returns from yesterday's election.

With about one-third of the votes counted, the interior ministry announced early today that Peron had a total of 1,503,161 votes to 719,253 for Dr. Ricardo Balbin, Radical party candidate. The pro-government press hailed Peron's victory as a vote of confidence by the people. It said his final majority will be bigger than in his first election in 1946, when he polled 55 per cent.

Radical leaders declared that women, voting for the first time in an Argentine general election, were the main instrument in the Peron victory.

The opposition claimed there had been some irregularities in the vote counting. They said that, according to their own count, at least five and possibly seven of their candidates won congressional seats in the capital, which sends 30 deputies to congress.

There were no other opposition complaints of irregularities, but Radical leaders reiterated charges that the Peronistas defrauded them during the pre-election campaign by not permitting the opposition equal campaigning facilities.

Reports by the interior ministry and the information undersecretariat gave no hint of the way the congressional elections were going. They also omitted the number of votes cast for the Communists, Socialists, Conservatives and other minor parties.

Peron in one of his pre-election speeches ordered his followers to vote for the full roster of Peronista candidates to give him strong support in congress.

Allies Charge Reds Stalling Armistice Talk

After Four Hours Argument, Groups Reach No Agreement

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 12.—(P)—Allied truce negotiators in strong words today accused the Communists of insisting on a phoney cease-fire line merely to stall the armistice talks.

After the subcommittees had wrangled for four hours and 15 minutes, an Allied spokesman said they were no closer to an agreement on the thorny buffer zone issue. They will meet again in Panmunjom at 11 a.m. Tuesday (8 p.m. CST Monday)—their 20th session.

Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, chairman of the two-member UN committee, minced no words in telling the Communist negotiators:

"You intend to establish a pre-sumptive demarcation line and demilitarized zone, which will release you of any necessity to settle the remaining items of the (armistice) agenda with speed and equity."

"You want to establish a spurious line and zone which will provide you with the leisure and freedom to continue delaying the conference."

Both sides have agreed the cease-fire line should follow the battle front with a buffer zone of one-half mile wide. They also have agreed that a special committee should determine the exact location of the buffer zone, based on the line of battle contact, and that the full five-man truce delegations should move on to the next agenda item in the meantime.

The only point unsettled is the matter of timing—should the cease-fire line be set first, as the Communists propose, or established after the armistice is reached?

UN Seizes Hills

On the battlefield today, Allied troops seized two hill positions southwest of Kumsong in an attack which pushed the Reds back three-quarters of a mile.

The Eighth army said the attack began at dawn, and both hills were secured by 1 p.m. The Allied infantrymen ran into light to moderate fire from a Communist platoon on each peak.

James Harvey Is Chairman Of PMA Here

Elected Saturday By Committeemen From Over County

James A. Harvey, Hughesville, has been elected chairman of the Pettis county Production and Marketing Administration, succeeding Robert W. Rissler, route 4, Sedalia, who was elected vice chairman.

Norman Gibson, La Monte, was re-elected as the third member of the committee. The election was held Saturday at a county convention attended by the 16 community committeemen.

Alternate members of the county committee, elected at the convention, are J. A. DeJarnett, route 4, Sedalia, first alternate, and McKinley Thomas, Beaman, as second alternate.

During the week of Nov. 5, Pettis county farm owners and operators met in their respective communities at which time community committee representatives were elected to administer the agricultural conservation and related programs during the coming year. It was this group which held its convention on Saturday.

These farmers, elected to the Pettis county committee, will administer, as representatives of the farmers in the county, the agricultural conservation, crop insurance, commodity loan and conservation materials program all under the jurisdiction of the Production and Marketing Administration. Their office is located at the county PMA office, 209 1/2 So. Ohio, Sedalia.

Farmers elected to community committees in their respective communities are: Blackwater township—E. F. Rissler, Gusie Whitall and C. A. Staples; Bowlin Green township—McKinley Thomas, J. H. Youngkamp and Olin McClain; Cedar-Sedalia township—R. W. Dow, A. C. Runge and Clay Brown; Dresden township—Harold Johnson, Charles P. Fichter and Forrest Oswald; Elk Fork township—Olin Ragar, J. P. Ruffin and A. B. Clevering.

Flat Creek township—Ed Goss, Robert Welliver and Paul Chmelir; Green Ridge township—Chester Feaster, Carl E. Johnson and B. W. Christian; Heaths Creek township—Cloyd Leftwich, Carl Raines and Raymond Hurt; Houstonia township—Lester Skillman, John Fitzgerald, and Kenneth Ryan; Hughesville township—Glen Breckenridge, C. E. Palmer and W. P. Nicholson.

Lake Creek township—Louis Demand, Nolen Gieschen and W. C. Corlew; La Monte township—Charles H. Brown, Charles Flint and Merle Templeton; Longwood township—B. C. Claycomb, Thomas J. Ream, J. W. Greer, Prairie township—Raymond D. Neitzert, Orin Chappell, and Paul Read; Smith township—Sheldon Smith, Cloyd Merk and Ralph Thomas; Washington township—Finus Benware, Leonard Ragar and Earl Case.

Missouri Exceeds Goal For Crusade for Freedom

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 12.—Missouri for the second year has succeeded its quota for the Crusade for Freedom.

State Chairman Robert M. White II of Mexico, Mo., today announced that more than $88,000 has been banked. The goal was $87,000.

his parents, leaving young Gerald, as the eldest, the head of a household of 11 orphans.

Offers of aid to the bereaved youngsters were pouring in. Grandparents and the neighbors stepped in to help. So did persons in far-off cities, some proposing adoption.

And in the midst of this Gerald gamely assumed the duties of the manhood suddenly thrust upon him. "Mom and dad," he said "bought a house so we could all be together."

"This is the first time we've been together in almost a year and now more than ever we won't want to be split up."

The children's parents, Murray J. Moore, 36 and Mary Jean Moore, 33, were killed in a traffic crash early Saturday.

A car filled with beer-drinking teen-agers crashed head-on into the Moores' auto. Four of the five teen-agers were killed.

As police continued an inquiry into the crash, relatives cared for the 11 orphans at the newly purchased nine-room Moore home in nearby Leonard.

The family had moved in only six weeks ago. Prior to that time the Oakland County Juvenile Home had boarded some of the children, they range in age from six weeks to Gerald's 15.

The new home, said Gerald, was the "first one that was big enough for all of us."

He said that his dad, a master electrician, used all his savings to make the down payment on the new home.

Sympathetic neighbors made donations of money, food and clothing. The township's telephone switchboard was jammed with calls to help.

A gasoline dealer turned over nearly 300 gallons of fuel oil. The township government prepared for emergency aid.

As to adoption of the orphans—that was a delicate point.

Mrs. Jack Bossick, sister of Mrs. Moore, indicated as much.

"One thing is certain," she said, "we will try everything to keep them together."

Armistice Day was observed on Sunday in Sedalia with solemnity in a special 11 o'clock service held in front of the doughboy statue on the courthouse lawn. The address was given by John A. Johnson, Ellington, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Commander Johnson told of the armistice on Nov. 11, 1918 following the bitter war waged in the Argonne, along the Meuse river and other salients that brought decisive victories to the allied forces, but at enormous cost.

The speaker referred briefly to earlier wars, starting in the 16th century, then on to World War II and then to the strife now in Korea—in which the fight is centered on the spread of communism and totalitarianism.

His address centered chiefly on steps for an enduring peace of the peoples of all lands and in this he expressed hope that the United Nations efforts through the Atlantic Pact in which 59 nations are enrolled, would accomplish the aim.

Deplores Cost of War

He deplored the tremendous cost in lives and outlay of billions which has fallen thus far to halt the vast destruction of property and has brought misery into homes of millions, both in this country and abroad. In his review of the World War I, and the subsequent armistice, he stated: "We lost the peace after the 1914-18 conflict because we did not adjust to the universal concept of peace and freedom."

"Then, in a short span of years," he declared, "Hitler and his Nazis launched World War II in 1939." He pointed out in that struggle 56,000,000 casualties were counted. "Today," he said, "in 1951, we

Eden Asks Russian Support

Would Put Aside All World Issues for a Time, Settle Cold War Before U. N.

PARIS, Nov. 12.—(P)—Britain's Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden called on the Russians today to put aside major world issues temporarily and seek a step-by-step solution to the cold war.

"Let us grasp the definite and limited problems, and work for their practical solution," Eden said in a conciliatory speech before the United Nations general assembly.

"That is the real road to peace. That is the way to make a fresh start," he declared.

Eden's speech, his first in the UN since the founding conference at San Francisco in 1945, was notable for its mild tone and lack of attacks on the Russians.

Urges Push on Small Issues

He urged all UN members—including the Soviet Union—to work from the small issues to the great "with real good will."

Backing up U.S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson's policy statement last week on every point, Eden cited the British-French-American disarmament proposals as one example of how the East-West disputants could work from the small issues to the large.

"We suggest," he declared, that disarmament "should begin with the less important categories of armed forces and armaments, then move on to those that are more important and secret, and therefore more difficult to handle."

"The sooner we can agree on the simpler categories, the sooner we shall have confidence to tackle more complex tasks."

Eden appealed to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky to reconsider his scornful rejection of the western proposals. The Russian had submitted, calling for his own disarmament plan, instead for a world arms conference.

Eden also urged, as Acheson had before him, that agreement be reached to:

1. End the war in Korea;
2. Reunite Germany through free democratic elections;
3. Give Austria a treaty ending the occupation by France, Britain, the Soviet Union and the United States;
4. Admit Italy to the United Nations.

Mrs. Ike Warren To C. of C. Office For Mrs. Morris

Mrs. Hansel Morris, who for the past year has been vice manager at the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce office, has resigned because of illness.

Replacing Mrs. Morris in the office is Mrs. Ike L. Warren, who will have charge of membership and finance. Mrs. Warren has been active in the Chamber of Commerce for a number of years, working on projects whenever called upon, heading several of them. She also served a term on the Chamber of Commerce board and is familiar with the organization. At a recent C. of C. election Mrs. Warren was elected to the office of treasurer.

Speaker Expresses Hope for True Peace As Sedalia Observes Armistice Day Sunday

are involved in a third world struggle for freedom and peace. This time the enemies are Communist Russia and satellite nations. Full scale world war three is a hair-trigger possibility in Europe and Asia," he asserted.

UN Has Peace Pattern The United Nations charter sets the pattern for world peace. That charter pledges the peoples of the United States to uphold the rights of all peoples, and to promote social progress to better standards of living and larger freedom for every one," he declared.

"Security of our nation is of paramount importance," he added, and said veterans "urge that we stop bickering over petty and social differences and concentrate on our self-preservation. They believe that these who protest, or hinder our national defense program are either selfish or blind to the real communist danger."

Preceding his address, the Smith-Cotton high school band played under the direction of its conductor, Miss Geraldine Teufel, and a bevy of baton twirlers performed.

Walter McMullen, commander of Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion, was master of ceremonies.

The observance opened with a prayer by the Rev. A. J. Bruns, pastor of Sacred Heart church, before a display of Old Glory and flags of the different posts of veterans' organizations. A silent prayer of a minute followed the invocation.

A wreath was placed at the foot of the doughboy statue by Mrs. D. H. Neiberger, a Gold Star mother, who was accompanied by her husband.

A firing squad, composed of veterans from the various military organizations, fired a salute.

Taos were sounded by John Booth and Don Gray.

A good sized crowd witnessed the ceremonies, aside from the participants, standing in a chilling breeze that moved in following an early indication of warmth and sunshine.

The firing squad was composed of: John Dawson, Everett Bunker, Raymond Wilson and Oliver Brice of post 98, American Legion; Charles M. Scruton and John Thomas of post 16, American Legion; Lacey Howe and Lester Dennis, post 342, American Legion; Loren Atchbury, captain of the squad, of post 342, American Legion; and Samuel Green and G. J. Ratje, Sr., post 2508 Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Passion Play Opens Tonight With Cast of 125

The world famous Black Hills Passion Play, which features Josef Meier in the role of the Christus with a supporting cast of 125, opened to a capacity student matinee at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Liberty theatre.

Students from all over the trade area, many from as far as 130 miles away, began arriving in Sedalia around 12 o'clock and by curfew time the house was filled with a most enthusiastic and appreciative group of students.

The Sedalia premier will be held tonight at 8:15 and there will be performances each day from now through Thursday. Student matinees will be held at 2 p.m. and regular night performances at 8:15 p.m.

The Black Hills Passion Play, largest and oldest of all stage attractions, will be an inspiration to an estimated 7,000 people during its run here. It is sponsored by the Sedalia Rotary club with all proceeds to be used by the club for its charitable activities fund, according to Emory Bowman, Rotary president.

Pfc. Don Rhoads Wounded In Korea On 'Heartbreak'

Pfc. Donald Rhoads, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Rhoads, route 5, who was wounded in Korea on Oct. 8, and whose condition had been good, has had a set back and is now confined to his bed, following another operation, according to word received by his parents.

Pfc. Rhoads took part in several of the battles at Heartbreak Ridge. He was struck in the leg with a shell splinter and after he was wounded had to crawl down a hill about a mile to get to an aid station. He was taken to an army hospital and recovered sufficiently to get around with the aid of a cane, but his condition became worse and another operation was necessary.

Enlisting in March of this year, the 19-year-old soldier has been in Korea two months and was one of nine out of 47 awarded the Purple Heart and clusters.

Two Killed In Two Head-on Collisions On 40 at Boonville

BOONVILLE, Mo., Nov. 12.—(P)—Two head-on automobile collisions near Boonville killed two persons Saturday night.

The victims were Walter Blood, 33, of route two, Oak Grove, Mo., and Marlene Keith, 16, of Pilot Grove, Mo.

Blood was killed when his car and one driven by Raymond Hart of Joplin collided. Hart and a passenger, Leonard R. Robinson of Joplin, were injured seriously.

Miss Keith died when the car in which she was a passenger collided with one occupied by Mrs. Georgia Schreeve of Junction City, Kas., Miss Lorene Barber of Junction City and three children. Mrs. Schreeve and Miss Barber were injured. Also hurt were Lynn Terrell and Cecil L. Hurt, both of Boonville, Miss Keith was riding in their car.

Both accidents occurred on U. S. highway 40, west of Boonville.

Truman To Meet Churchill

January Get-Together May Mean British Want New Loan; Stalin Not Mentioned

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 12.—(P)—President Truman's agreement to meet with British Prime Minister Churchill in January lent emphasis today to reports that a new English loan is in the making.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short disclosed Churchill's plans at a news conference yesterday. Short was telling reporters at a news conference of how the president got up early Sunday and walked outside the naval submarine station where he has his quarters, and of how he swam and sunbathed at the naval submarine station.

Suddenly, a reporter asked about a story, by John M. Hightower of the Associated Press, that Churchill is expected to visit Washington early in January for talks with the president.

"Quite probably, the prime minister will be in Washington some time in January," Short said.

After Truman's Speeches

There was no indication whatsoever that the conference, certain to be delayed until after Mr. Truman has submitted his "state of the union," budget and economic messages to congress, will involve either the French or the Russians.

French President Auriol has suggested a meeting of President Truman and the British, Russian and French heads of state to help ease international tension.

Ever since the British election campaigns that sent Churchill back into control of the British government, it has been a generally known fact that Churchill would want to re-new his old acquaintance with Mr. Truman if returned to power.

No matter what the two discuss, nothing will exceed in importance British need for financial aid.

Churchill, Short said, has had an exchange of messages with the president.

He added that he knew of no plans to include Russian Premier Stalin or French Prime Minister Rene Plevin in the discussions. There was speculation that Churchill might address a joint session of congress.

Point Proposal

Churchill, presidential aides believe, will propose:

1. A closer partnership between the United States and Great Britain, which would involve not only frequent meetings with President Truman, but even more frequent meetings between Secretary of State Acheson and Foreign Minister Eden.
2. Substantial financial help from the United States (running into the billions) to help combat the English economic crisis.
3. The United States give England a greater voice in the development of foreign policy involving both governments, possibly including more say-so in atomic policy.

Whatever the two may agree upon, there was no assurance of congressional approval.

Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn) of the powerful senate appropriations committee said he hopes Churchill will not seek additional money from this country, adding that "our own people have an excessive load of taxation to bear."

There was every indication that the forthcoming conference was strictly a British idea.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round
Anaconda Co. to Get Cheap Gov't Water Power in Mont. Despite President's Objections

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright 1951 By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12 — Despite President Truman's 1948 whistle-stop campaign based on protecting the nation from big business, his administrators have now decided to put one of the biggest metal companies in the world in the already tightly held aluminum business.

They are awarding the cheap government water power from Hungry Horse dam in Montana to the Anaconda Copper company, despite vigorous objections by Mr. Truman's own justice department that the contract violates the principle of the Sherman Antitrust act. They are also closing their eyes to the criminal record of Anaconda, whose Anaconda Wire and Cable company was twice convicted of war frauds during World War II for selling defective wire to the armed forces — wire, which if not detected, might have caused the loss of American troops in battle.

Ironically, the fact is that a small business firm, the Harvey Machine company of Los Angeles, was about to receive an RFC loan to help put it in the aluminum business in Montana. But when Harvey's wartime record in producing navy shells was questioned, the loan was held up.

It was right and proper that Harvey's record should have been scrutinized, though for unexplained reasons Secretary of the Navy Kimball has flatly refused to give the navy's files on this case either to his own colleague, the Secretary of the Interior, or to the House investigating committee. However, this columnist, who has seen the files, can report that Harvey's record was saintlike compared to Anaconda's.

Anaconda was convicted at Fort Wayne, Ind., on June 12, 1943 for defrauding the government in connection with the sale of defective wire, was fined $31,000 and three of its men were given suspended prison sentences.

Again in Pawtucket, R. I., Anaconda was convicted Jan. 12, 1944 on a war-fraud charge, with four of its people given 18 months to one year in jail and a fifth placed on parole for two years.

Remarkably, the judge "The company perpetrated these frauds with the intent to increase their profits without regard to the lives of American boys."

On top of the criminal convictions, the government brought civil suit after the war and collected $1,626,000 from Anaconda. Yet this is the company which will now be favored with cheap government power, a tax-amortization deal whereby the investment is written off in four years, and a contract whereby the government buys virtually all its aluminum.

Monopoly Ignored
Other phases of the Anaconda Aluminum deal are also interesting. When little businessman Harvey rang government doorbells and sat in government ante-rooms trying to get support for his aluminum plan, he was advised "why don't you get a wealthy partner?"

Meanwhile Anaconda made various overtures to him, proposed a lopsided partnership. Harvey resisted. Finally the government served notice that the priorities he had received on materials, together with his power contract at Hungry Horse, would be taken away. Throwing in the sponge, he agreed to become Anaconda's junior partner. This means Harvey will be swallowed up by Anaconda like a boy eating an ice-cream cone.

Interesting fact No. 2 — The man who made the final decision for Anaconda was Manly Fleischmann, head of defense production. One of his right-hand men is Joseph Mulally, an official of Anaconda Wire and Cable, the same company twice convicted of defrauding Uncle Sam during the war. Mulally is a $1-a-year man, continues to draw salary from Anaconda. He declined to tell this columnist how much Anaconda paid him, claimed he had nothing to do with Fleischmann's decision in favor of Anaconda, but is one of Fleischmann's assistants.

Interesting Fact No. 3 — Fleischmann and other defense production officials did not bother to consult the justice department either in regard to Anaconda's criminal record or its monopoly position until after they had reached a decision.

The past record of an individual seeking a government job is sometimes scrutinized by the FBI for months. But not the slightest check was made of Anaconda's war record until Fleischmann was called by a newsman. By that time the decision to give Anaconda a brief session was then held with the justice department to go through the more formal routine of checking.

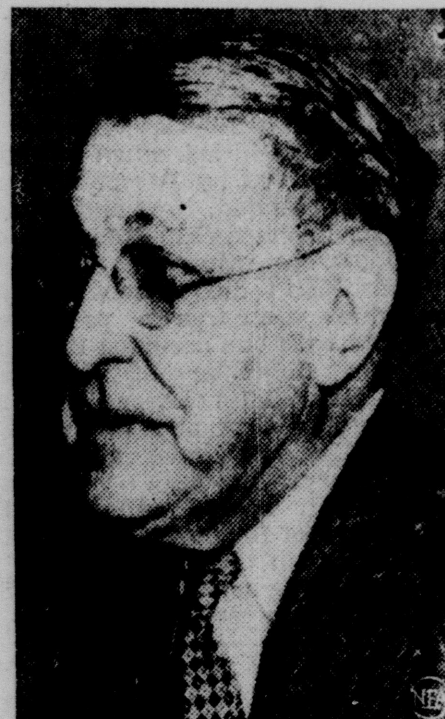

Remarkably a friend of Jess Larsen, the efficient but frequently discouraged general services administrator: "It looks like the only companies that get big war contracts are those which have committed crimes against the government."

"No," replied Larsen wearily, "it's the ones who commit the crimes who have a hundred million dollars."

The doughboy statue at the west front of the courthouse was dedicated with appropriate ceremonies. Donald S. Lamm, post commander of the American Legion, Post No. 16, spoke the words that made it a memorial to the members of the armed forces who lost their lives in battle, or otherwise gave their lives in the interest of peace. The address of the day was given by Harry E. Castlen, state commander of the Legion.

More than 250 boys and parents were given a monster picnic and wiener roast Thursday night at the farm of Ed Whitmire, one and one-half miles north of Georgetown. The picnic lunch required 1,000 wieners, about 100 pounds, 600 buns and 25 pounds of marshmallows.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon, according to an Associated Press dispatch, died at Danville, Ill. He was 90 years old and had long been a member of Congress.

Thursday evening a large crowd of Pettis countians were at the Missouri Pacific station as President Calvin Coolidge, Mrs. Coolidge and a party of government officials and others passed through Sedalia on a special train. The President and Mrs. Coolidge made a brief appearance on the rear platform of the back coach of the train. The President shook hands with Mayor J. L. Babcock and a few others but made no speech. The President was returning to Washington after making an address at the dedication of the Liberty war memorial at Kansas City Armistice Day.

A most remarkable and quick weather change came in this section within a three-hour period Saturday, Nov. 11. At 3 p.m., the temperature, following a light rainfall, was 62 degrees above zero and at 6 p.m. it was 22 above. It went still lower during the night and Wednesday morning was 15 above. The cold wave came in with strong gales that did considerable damage to telephone and telegraph lines. Snow moved in on the tailend of the storm.

A turkey dinner was announced to be served in the banquet room of the Central Presbyterian church Nov. 29 for benefit of the Melita Day nursery. It was to cost 35 cents a plate. The day previous, Sedalians were invited to visit the nursery and see what is being done in the care of the little ones at that institution.

Cecil Payne, a young Sedalian interest in aviation, was injured at Willis, Tex., last Friday, sustaining a broken nose, when the Curtiss bi-plane he was flying developed engine trouble in the take-off and was wrecked.

Adage Has It Pipe Smokers Seldom Turn Out Criminals

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — (AP) — Among the taboos of pipe lore is an old theory that pipe smokers rarely are criminals.

This applies, naturally, to those who put tobacco in their pipes — not opium.

"A survey of police commissioners once found that none could recall the case of a pipe smoker being convicted of a felony," said Morris Levinson, head of America's largest pipe manufacturing firm.

"There is a reason so few pipe smokers turn to crime. The typical pipe smoker is more self-assured inwardly — more patient and contemplative than the average man."

A case in point: England, where 60 per cent of the men smoke pipes, has an extremely low crime rate.

"You might even say that pipe smoking is indicative of a mature mind," Levinson said, puffing contentedly. But he declined to say whether this had any bearing on the fact that only a small fraction of women in the United States smoke pipes.

"The sample there is too small to generalize about," he said. "Women may prefer cigarettes for — well, for their cosmetic effect."

The pipe industry is comfortably heartened by the growth of television, feeling it will reverse the downward trend of pipe sales in recent years.

"People will be sitting still longer in the same place," said Levinson. "There won't be so much hurry, hurry. And men turn to pipes when they have more leisure."

Another cheering bit of news for pipe smokers: Congress recently with several local teachers, returned from Hannibal where they attended the Missouri Teachers' association convention.

cently cut the tax on smoking tobacco from 18 cents a pound down to ten cents.

Pipes can be made from many substances — clay, pipestone, corn-cobs, hickory, cherry wood, or just plain lumber, briar and meerschaum.

The popularity of briar, the burl on the root of a shrub-like heather that grows in Mediterranean countries, stems from about 1840. Legend says that a Frenchman, visiting a shrine to Napoleon on the island of Corsica, saw some natives carving one of the hard-grained burls. He had them fashion him a pipe — and that started a new pipe industry.

It takes the burls from 15 years to several centuries to mature. They are then boiled in a special solution to remove the sap and seasoned from six months to two years. It takes 130 operations to create a fine hand-made pipe, including 18 separate polishes.

Meerschaum, sometimes known as "sea foam," is a coral-like substance made from the hard-packed shells of prehistoric shell animals embedded in the red clay of Asia Minor.

"It has to be whittled by hand," said Levinson. "We have only a few of these fine craftsmen left. When they die off, I doubt if there will be any more made in this country."

Lord's Acre Sale Makes $700 For Knob Noster Methodists

By Mrs. Russell Kendrick

KNOB NOSTER — The annual Lord's Acre sale was held at the Methodist church Saturday. Proceeds amounted to $700 and the money will be used for the upkeep of the church.

Mrs. Otto Baldwin and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rehkop and sons, Jimmie and Johnnie, accompanied by Mrs. Baldwin's sister, Mrs. Henry Baline of Sedalia, spent Sunday in Kansas City with Mr. Baldwin, who is in the Research hospital undergoing treatment.

The Rev. Ralph Maness was elected president, Elder J. T. Nutt, vice-president, and the Rev. Lloyd D. Wasson, secretary-treasurer, at a meeting of the Ministerial Alliance recently. The union Thanksgiving service will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 21, at the Baptist church with Elder Nutt conducting the services.

The following officers were elected at a meeting of the OES chapter Friday night: Mrs. F. L. Neitzert, worthy matron; F. L. Neitzert, worthy patron; Mrs. Raymond Baker, associate matron; Raymond Baker, associate patron; Mrs. Theodore V. Atwell, conductress; Mrs. Floyd McKeehan, associate conductress; Mrs. Fred Neitzert, secretary; Mrs. C. F. Covey, treasurer.

Misses Mary Elizabeth Rice and Patricia Pfroender of Granite City, Ill., were dinner guests Sunday of Miss Rice's aunt, Mrs. L. P. Lay, and Mr. Lay. Miss Rice and Miss Pfroender are students at CMSC in Warrensburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rector of St. Louis were week-end guests of Mrs. Rector's brother, Prof. A. C. Teague and family.

Members of the Better Homes 4-H club met with Jimmie Rehkop Thursday afternoon with 20 present. Plans were made for a Christmas party on Dec. 6. Plans were also made for 4-H achievement week. Janet Neitzert was in charge of the games and Ina Jean Crowley led the songs. Mrs. Kelly Neitzert, community leader, and Mrs. Kenneth Feagans, assistant community leader, were also present. Mrs. Rehkop served refreshments.

Mrs. John Boyd and daughter, Sally, and Mr. and Mrs. William Sherman attended the wedding of Miss Nannie Rose Harrison of La Monte and Dale Wishur of near Windsor at the La Monte Catholic church Saturday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Zink, Jr., and children entertained the following with a dinner Sunday: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lee Dixon and son, Paul, and Mrs. C. E. Foster of Kansas City; Mr. and Mrs. James Blum, Ricky and Susan of Lee's Summit; Mrs. William Bushy, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Zink and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Zink and son, Gary Lee.

Kitten in the Woods

By Kathleen Briggs

THE STORY: Courtney Benson, house guest at the home of Mrs. Lucien Steinhart where Elizabeth Brownell is a nurse, has been found dead after an evening filled with tension. Later in private, Bill Devanter, a friend of Elizabeth's but unpopular with the Steinharts, tells Elizabeth that he believes Benson was murdered.

XIII
ELIZABETH stood at the foot of the stairs, her hand on the firm cold wood of the newel. The feel of the mahogany was strengthening. The rock-hard dependability of it reminded her that this old house had been built to withstand many crises, would probably withstand many more.

Beyond the library window she watched lanterns go swaying past, paled to ghostly inefficiency by the coming dawn. The men on their way back to the dam, where Courtney Benson lay remote and mysterious in death. Bill Devanter would be leading the way.

She slowly started to mount the stairs. Ahead of her, behind the dark frosted panes of the landing, the shadows of palm and fern in the enormous conservatory created a strange exotic pattern of glassy wallpaper.

The pinkish glow of the night lamp emanated from Mrs. Steinhart's room, making a faint stain of light on the hall carpet. Elizabeth frowned worriedly. Ollie must have returned to glance in on his mother and inadvertently left the door open. It had been closed when she went down to phone.

She started to tiptoe past and stopped. Emily Steinhart was sitting up in bed propped against the pillows, her eyes closed.

Elizabeth gasped with the sudden conviction of negligence that seized her.

"Beth, my dear."

It was a whisper. The woman's eyes were open now, deeply dark and too curious. Elizabeth hurried to her side.

"Why didn't you ring?"

"No need. I managed to pull myself up. I'm getting stronger . . . don't tell my grandchildren that."

The slender fingers drummed impatiently on the spread. They motioned for Elizabeth to sit down beside her. The eyes, clear and alert as a squirrel's, peered at the young nurse from the seamwork of fine lines, pinning Elizabeth so that she sat down rigidly, unable to look away.

"What is going on in my house, young lady?"

Elizabeth prayed, unable to decide what to do and wishing Dr. Appleby were here.

"The eyes waited, demanding an answer. Too shrewd to deceive, too sick to shock needlessly. Elizabeth stalled for time, her gaze straying toward the bathroom where her hypodermic syringe was handy.

"What did you hear?"

"Many voices, much commotion."

"We tried to be quiet."

"My stroke didn't affect my hearing. Now tell me what this is all about."

Her tone was imperious, demanding and her eyes said, "Don't lie. I'm too old a woman to be deceived by glib professional phrases."

Elizabeth reached for the blue-veined wrist, her fingers probing for and at last finding the faint but steady pulse.

"I don't want to upset you. In your condition excitement isn't good for you. You know that."

"You're upsetting me more by keeping me in suspense."

"Very well. . . ." Elizabeth paused, pleading with her conscience against her technical knowledge and training.

"There's been an accident."

She tried to make the sentence sound as unimportant and flat as possible but you can't change the significance of words. She felt the pulse slacken, saw Emily Steinhart's face turn chalky. The word that came reluctantly from blood-less lips was barely a whisper. "Ollie?"

"No, not Ollie. He's quite all right. None of your grandchildren."

Color flooded back to the cameo-cut features.

"Who then?"

"Courtney Benson."

"Courtney? What happened to him?"

"First, I want you to take a sedative. I don't want you lying awake thinking about it."

SHE gave her patient the capsule with water, saw that she swallowed it. Then Elizabeth resumed her seat on the edge of the bed.

"Mr. Benson apparently slipped on the stepping stones that cross White Water Creek. They found him lying below the dam with a fatal head injury. They've gone to bring him back."

"Courtney dead?"

"I'm afraid there's almost no doubt."

"Poor boy. I can't believe it!" Emily Steinhart stared beyond Elizabeth at the wall, visualizing Courtney Benson as she remembered him years before. "And I didn't even see him! I don't know why he came or what he wanted to tell me. He must have thought it very important to have come so far."

Elizabeth ran her fingers over her forehead. Courtney Benson had wanted to see Mrs. Steinhart that evening and she, Elizabeth, had denied him permission. Had it not been for the best, perhaps? She must make herself believe so.

A sound in the doorway made her turn sharply. For an instant her muscles tensed with surprise, then she smiled at her own nerves. To be sure, a frightening apparition stood there, but a harmless one. Mrs. Murphy, the cook, done up in elaborate curl papers and a chin strap for her sagging throat muscles, eyed them both with grim disapproval.

"That Mr. Devanter is below, Miss. He wants to see you at once. Says as how it's most urgent. I'll sit with the Missus for a spell."

Two young people romancing around, her tone implied, and a nice gentleman lying out in the woods stiff and stark in death!

Colvin-Killion Wedding

Miss Mabel Colvin, daughter of R. W. Colvin, 508 West Third, became the bride of Noah Killion, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Killion of Houstonia at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Nov. 4.

The double ring service was read by the Rev. Thomas W. Croxton, pastor of the First Baptist church, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Wood of Houstonia.

Before the ceremony Clay Killion, Jr., accompanied by Mrs. Leonard DeBord at the piano, sang, "Because" and "O Promise Me." Mrs. DeBord then played the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin" by Mendelssohn as the bridal party entered the room.

The bride chose for her wedding a pastel pink wool jersey dress with black accessories and her corsage was of white amaranth lilies. Mrs. R. E. Stuart, sister of the bride and her only attendant, wore a dress of light gray wool jersey with accessories of black and her corsage was of talisman roses.

Clyde Killion, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. A reception was held immediately following the wedding service. A three tiered wedding cake with a small bouquet of violets centered in the top layers was cut by the bride and bridegroom. A mixed bouquet of white mums and pink roses with tall tapers on either side formed the centerpiece for the table.

Serving in the dining room were Mrs. W. A. Nelson, St. Louis; aunt of the bride; Mrs. Ray Lipard, Mrs. Leonard DeBord, Mrs. R. E. Stuart, Mrs. Paul Purzner and Mrs. Murry Wood.

Guests at the wedding were relatives of the bride and bridegroom.

The bride was born and reared in Sedalia and is a graduate of Smith-Cotton high school. She has been employed by the AAA Automobile Club of Missouri for several years.

Mr. Killion was reared in the Houstonia community and has been engaged in farming with his father and brothers.

The couple left for a trip. For traveling the bride wore a green suit with black velvet accessories. Her corsage was of red roses.

Bride Honored With Shower

A shower was given in honor of Miss Merle Kabler who was married to Raymond Williams Oct. 18, by Mrs. Leroy Holmer and Mrs. Ernest Heller at the home of Mrs. Heller.

The evening was spent in conversation and playing bingo. Invited guests were: Mrs. C. M. Hayes, Mrs. Ernest Kabler, Mrs. Ralph Smith, Mrs. Harry Farris, Mrs. Sandy Scott, Mrs. Roy Burkholder, Mrs. Bill Greer, Miss Helen and Miss Nora Lucke, Mrs. Beulah Welch, Miss Agnes Rouschka, Mrs. Spring Mrs. William Matthews, Mrs. Nathan Brown, Mrs. J. M. Parsley, Mrs. John Kabler and Linda, Mrs. Ruby Rouschka, Mrs. James Cunningham and daughter, Mrs. Lewis Walje, Mrs. Fred Evans, Mrs. Helen Whittington, Mrs. Linden Whitfield, Mrs. Hohimer and Mrs. Heller, Mr. James Blythe, Mrs. Ernest Carver, Mrs. Henry Richardson, Mrs. Bessie Kabler, Mrs. Opal Abney, Mrs. Minnie Rotje, Mrs. Leona Lindsey, Mrs. Eva Barry, Mrs. Kate McPherson, Mrs. Mary Ann Donath and Mrs. Pertie. After the gifts were opened, refreshments were served. Miss Kalyer received many nice gifts.

Victor Gill President Of Rose Society

The Sedalia Rose Society met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Seifert, 1701 West 11th, Tuesday, Nov. 6, with Henry Kipp assisting. A dessert course was served at 7:30 o'clock followed by the business meeting presided over by the president, Mrs. Herbert Seifert.

Election of officers for 1952-53 was held with Victor Gill elected president. Other officers elected were: Mrs. W. H. Eichholz, first vice president; Herbert Seifert, second vice president; Mrs. P. L. Stroble, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Leslie Hale, reporter.

The program was in charge of Mrs. C. L. Carter, who introduced Oscar DeWolf. Mr. DeWolf showed colored slides of rose gardens of members among which were colored slides taken of the garden of Mrs. H. C. Sammons by her son, Burl R. Sammons and entered in the second annual international

Observed 35th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anderson celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary last Sunday with a dinner at their home.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Smith, Edgar Anderson, all of Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Anderson, Independence, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Anderson and family, Helen Anderson and James Anderson of Smithton, Richard Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde DeHaven and family of Sedalia, James DeHaven stationed at Fort Riley, Kas. Mrs. Ruth Langston and son, Sedalia, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anderson and family, Hughesville, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Riley and family, Sedalia route 3, and A. H. Wainwright, Sedalia. One daughter, Mrs. Ruth Sullivan of Sacramento, Calif., was unable to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were married Nov. 4, 1916 at the parsonage of the East Sedalia Baptist church by the Rev. C. M. Truex. They drove in to get their license after 5 o'clock in the afternoon from six miles in the country and it was warm enough that Mrs. Anderson did not wear her coat.

Mrs. Anderson was formerly Beatrice Wainwright and was a teacher in the rural schools.

Judy Garland Collapses Back Stage In N. Y. C.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 — (AP) — Actress Judy Garland, on a successful comeback trail, collapsed backstage at the Palace theater last night after disregarding her doctor's orders not to perform.

"The show must go on," the 29-year-old singer insisted, according to her physician, Dr. Udall J. Salmon.

He had her taken from the theater in an ambulance to a private sanitarium for "a few days." The doctor said she was suffering from "nervous exhaustion."

Miss Garland collapsed shortly after becoming ill in front of her evening audience. She had played a matinee, despite Dr. Salmon's earlier plea that she take the day off.

But the actress wanted to carry on at the Palace, where she sparked a Broadway revival of vaudeville—and sparked her own triumphal American comeback after her career seemed doomed. She opened at the theater last Oct. 16. The critics raved, and the rose color slide exhibit held by Berks camera club Reading, Pa., sponsored by Reading Rose Society for amateurs and on which second and third prizes were received on the entries. In this contest were 200 entrants from United States, Canada and England.

Color slides, also taken by Mr. Sammons, were shown of a number of colonial homes in Natchez and New Orleans.

Color slides were shown from the American Rose Society showing planting, pruning, diseases, insects and various rose gardens over the United States.

The exhibit was roses from rose gardens of members.

Plans were made for Christmas dinner and installation meeting in December.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brummett and Mr. and Mrs. Burl R. Sammons.

'Optimist Week' Points to Boys In Whom Clubs Take Interest

Optimists here today opened the observance of their 34th annual "Optimist Week"—an event they share with more than 40,000 Optimists in 750 clubs throughout the United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba and Puerto Rico.

Club president Ed G. Ringen said Sedalia's club would use Optimist Week to sum up accomplishments of last year and plan for activities in 1952.

Mostly, these plans will deal with boys' work here, and in cooperation with Optimist International which has its headquarters of $1810.95. After deducting the $700 expenses, she had a net income of $1110.5. She is a member of the Zion 4-H Club in Cooper county.

In St. Louis. Mr. Ringen said, "Once again we will state our general policy as 'Friend of the Boy'."

"Optimists everywhere this year are interested in preserving for boys those advantages of private initiative and free enterprise which we hold have made our country great," the Optimist spokesman said.

"In these dark days, we believe this long range interest in democratic ways is on equal footing in importance with our year by year work in sponsoring boys' activities and maintaining homes to rehabilitate boys who otherwise would become community problems."

The Optimist club of Sedalia has 60 members from professional, business and trade groups. Its held Tuesday at the Hotel Both—"Optimist Week" meeting will be well.

U. S. Ready to Work for Real Peace

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12—(AP)—President Truman says the United States, disappointed in the hope that the first Armistice Day would bring lasting peace, is now "determined to work for it, hard and actively, with all our resources."

"We are engaged in a great national effort to build up enough strength and economic power so we and all the peaceful nations can be secure against the threats of new aggression in the world today," the Chief Executive said. He spoke in a broadcast yesterday. It was recorded here before he went to Key West, Fla., for a vacation.

Similar expressions were voiced by other officials in Armistice Day observances throughout the nation and abroad yesterday. Still other ceremonies of tribute to the dead of World War I, and of other wars, were planned today, the legal holiday.

But for the United Nations forces fighting in Korea there was no formal observance. "Our policy on this Armistice Day is business as usual," said Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth army commander.

The supreme commander in the Far East, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, broadcast an appeal throughout the U. S. for blood donations. He said the men fighting in Korea "cannot long pause to note either the day or its significance—they are otherwise occupied."

At traditional ceremonies at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National cemetery, Secretary of Defense Lovett said: "Once more we renew our vows to our heroic dead never to give up in the struggle in which they gave their lives."

Lovett, substituting for Mr. Truman, added: "The cause is the same, the issue is as clear, and the crisis is as compelling as it ever was. Freedom is the cause, unprovoked aggression is the issue, and our entire concept of living is in the crisis at hand."

At the same ceremony, Donald R. Wilson, new commander of the American Legion, called on the nation "to win now in whatever theatre and in whatever battle, military or otherwise, in which we may find ourselves engaged."

Gen. George C. Marshall, speaking at Wayne, Pa., said America now has "a position of leadership which demands fortitude, courage, and great wisdom, and which does not permit emotional reactions to dominate our policies."

In New York a military parade down Fifth avenue ended in ceremonies at the Eternal Light in Madison Square park, a shrine to war dead. Mayor Vincent Impelleri said:

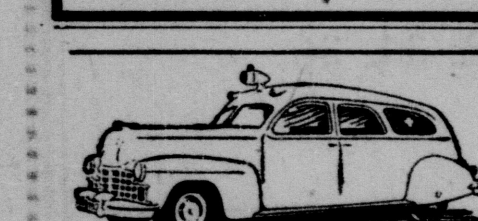

"We certainly would be mad if we were to mark this day and this hour in joyous celebration. Let our prayer then be this morning that when we are met again here to observe this day, there may be a greater measure of peace and freedom among men."

Police Court

Walter Bert Walkup, 1013 South Lamine, reported to the police he lost his billfold Saturday. The billfold, according to the report, contained between $3 and $5.

Two men, described as Mexicans and driving a car with a Texas license, were reported as soliciting mechanic business in Sedalia. Police, in making an investigation, said they had offered one Sedalian a proposition of repairing his car for $40 and giving him a $150 job. An investigation reveals no such garage as the man described on north highway 65.

E. C. Schlichting, 809 South Lamine, reported vandals had broken the aerial on his 1947 Mercury car radio, broke out a pane of the windshield glass, and dented the upper left back portion of the top of the car. An investigation is being conducted.

Seven overtime parking bonds of $1 each were forfeited this morning when defendants failed to appear before Judge Jerry Trotter in police court.

Jimmy Crain, route 1, Ottville, pleaded not guilty in police court on a charge of careless and reckless driving and was given a hearing before Judge Trotter. After the hearing Crain was found guilty and fined $25.

Three traffic cases have been set for Tuesday morning in police court: Olen Tucker, 2100 West Broadway, charged with careless driving, at liberty under a $50 signed bond; Max Smith, Kansas City, careless driving while drinking, released on a $100 cash bond; Raymond Tevis, Houstonia, picked up on a city warrant in connection with an accident at Osage and Cooper, Nov. 3, released on a $250 bond.

Circuit Court

Emma Marcum, through her attorney, F. T. Armstrong, filed a $20,000 damage suit against the Montgomery Ward and company, in the circuit clerk's office, for injuries allegedly received when she slipped and fell in the defendants' store Sept. 20.

The plaintiff claims that the reason for her fall was a slippery substance, probably oil, on the floor.

The plaintiff also seeks for costs besides the $20,000.

McLaughlin chapel to remain until the afternoon when it will be taken to the Lake Creek Methodist church. Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m., with burial in the Lake Creek cemetery. The Rev. Rathert, of Smithton, will officiate.

Open Diabetic Drive Today In Schools

Tests of Students Being Made; Can Cure If Found Early

A search is now under way in Sedalia for the unknown diabetics. It is important that they be found promptly because diabetes is best controlled when discovered early.

Delay in the diagnosis of diabetes allows the disease to progress; early detection means a longer and healthier life. More women than men develop diabetes. It can occur at any age from birth on. It is prevalent in older persons, but more severe in the young.

When diabetes does occur among children it is more likely to be fatal unless it is brought under control early.

For this reason the Registered Nurses' organization of Sedalia, with the cooperation of the local Red Cross, the school board and the medical society, is sponsoring, under the direction of Mrs. Murrell, a mass urine screen campaign to cover every school pupil in Sedalia from the fifth grade through high school.

Permission blanks for participation in this screening have been sent to all parents. These blanks must be returned promptly. This campaign is being conducted in all schools in Sedalia according to the following schedule.

Monday — Whittier, Broadway, Horace Mann, Sacred Heart.

Tuesday — Smith-Cotton, St. Joseph, St. Patrick.

Wednesday — Smith-Cotton.

Thursday — Mark Twain, Jefferson, Washington.

Friday — Hubbard school.

Provisions have been made for the testing of any adult in the county, as well as any child not covered in the screening being carried out in the schools, at the Missouri Division of Health offices, located at 605 South Massachusetts. These offices will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Wednesday and Friday. Further information concerning this program may be obtained by calling the health offices, telephone number 106.

Every citizen in Pettis county is urged to take advantage of this program which does not take more than five minutes of time, and no money.

Mayor Proclaims This As 'Diabetes Week'

Mayor Herb Studer has proclaimed this week, Nov. 11 to 17, as Diabetes Week in Sedalia.

The diabetes detection drive is being sponsored here by the R. N. Club of which the following are officers: Mrs. Dorothy Potter, president; Mrs. Beulah Sterling, vice-president; Mrs. Betty Thompson, secretary; Miss Mary Fischer, treasurer.

The district health office is the headquarters for the drive. No appointment is necessary and there will be no waiting. Telephone 108 or go to the office at Central Business college for information.

Emerson Hurd, pastor of the Epworth Methodist church, officiating. Pallbearers will be friends of the family.

Interment will be in Crown Hill cemetery.

Funeral of C. J. Johnson
Funeral services for Charles J. "C. J." Johnson, as he was most familiarly known, were held at 10 a.m. Monday at the Gillespie Funeral home, the Rev. Thomas W. Croxton, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating at a brief ceremony.

The body, accompanied by relatives and friends, was then taken to Boonville, Mo., where he had formerly resided, and a second service was held there at the Christian church, of which he was a member. The Rev. Croxton also officiated there.

Interment was in the Boonville cemetery.

Visitors from Arkansas
Mr. and Mrs. R. B. James and nephew, David Masl, Fayetteville, Ark., were week-end guests of Mrs. James' sister-in-law, Mrs. M. O. Davis, and brother, Roy Gresham, 625 East 17th.

Bodyless Head, Beaten Widow Create Bizarre Mystery in Va.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 12—(AP)—Police redoubled their efforts today toward solving one of the strangest cases in their memory—that of the bodyless head and the beaten and strangled widow.

Should the head turn out to be as police believe it will—that of Walter Barr, 34-year-old carpenter missing since Oct. 3, officers are sure they have a double-barreled puzzler on their hands.

The severed head was found Saturday by a small Negro boy in a patch of honeysuckle in adjacent Princess Anne county. An all-day search yesterday failed to turn up any body or parts of a human torso.

It was only about a mile away that fishermen on Oct. 6 discovered the beaten and strangled body of Mrs. Mamie Smithwick, 57-year-old widow of Worley Smithwick, for many years superintendent of a Methodist orphanage in Raleigh, N. C.

When Mrs. Smithwick's body was found floating in a lake, police immediately launched a hunt for Barr, last seen three days earlier.

He and the widow were headed for a drive-in movie at the time. Police learned Barr and Mrs. Smithwick had lived at the same boarding house here and went to the movies together frequently. They had been planning a trip to a church function Oct. 6 in Washington, N. C., where Barr's wife works in a laundry.

On Oct. 10, police found Barr's car parked in Norfolk. Blood was smeared on both seats, a bullet hole was found in the roof and there were fragments of human teeth on the floor.

But nothing was heard of Barr until the youth made his grisly discovery on Saturday.

Police still are not certain the head is that of Barr. Absence of photographic records prevented positive identification yesterday by a dentist who had filled some teeth for Barr.

The head was on its way to the state chief medical examiner's office in Richmond today for further checks while police resumed their search for the missing body.

As for the body, it was found in the atom bomb, national defense and kindred subjects was held for the FBI today—just to be sure he was as harmless as he sounds.

For the past two years Otto F. Maynard has been living in a rude shack under an Oakland approach to the San Francisco Bay bridge; amid the darndest collection of photographic and written matter police had ever seen.

There were photos of industrial plants and bridges, reams of notes of the atom bomb and hundreds of carefully written papers dealing with defense matters.

And, in the shack, roughly built of cardboard and bits of lumber, police found: one expensive graphic camera, one long range lens, 33 other pieces of photographic equipment including filters, and a magnifying glass.

"What's all the fuss about," the 42-year-old Maynard inquired when police looked him for vagrancy. A watchman in the area had reported he was suspicious of Maynard.

Police said he was "silly" when they questioned him, but, later, in talking with newsmen, he patiently explained it all.

In the first place, he lived in the shack because "rents are too high." Secondly, he is a camera fan and naturally spends all the money he gets for photographic equipment. Police checked and found he worked off and on as an odd jobs gardener and restaurant worker.

Maynard said he had photos in his "home" because he liked to take pictures. And things like the huge Standard Oil refinery at Richmond and the Bay bridge made good pictures, he said.

He also pointed out that his notes on the atom bomb dealt with its effects; not with its construction. He said they had been taken from civilian defense pamphlets available to anyone.

"I just wanted to be ready when the thing drops," he said.

The FBI office in Oakland received a report on Maynard last night and an agent said he planned to question the recluse today.

Maynard told Oakland police he was born and lived in Oakland all his life.

C. of C. Members Really Work To Feed 4-H's
Members of the agriculture committee of the Chamber of Commerce plus a few extra C. of C. members, were on hand Saturday night as hosts for the 4-H club members, their parents and leaders.

All dressed up in aprons, the group went to the Smith-Cotton cafeteria where they acted as hosts. They got in there and worked, too, poured water and coffee, helped line everybody to be served and kept things rolling until the meal was served, cafeteria style, to 800 people in one hour.

Then they all went to the auditorium where the group was lined up and introduced. Jack Cunningham, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided, and a few words of welcome were given by Mayor Herb E. Studer.

The group then went back to the cafeteria where they moved tables and chairs for the recreational period which followed the program. Square dancing was the main feature.

Those who helped during the evening were: Leon Archias, chairman of the agriculture committee, Elmer Adams, Ivan Berry, Jack Cunningham, Claude Boul, Neal Reubyn, Ray Lippard, Chester Wolfe, Kenneth Love, Roy Coplen, Jud Grayston, George Routzong, Mayor Herb Studer, Abe Silverman, C. L. Carter and Chester A. Brown, executive manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

This project, sponsored by the agriculture committee, is considered one of the best of the year.

Commie Students Heckle Hirohito At Kyoto University

KYOTO, Japan, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Leftist students heckled Emperor Hirohito today when the monarch arrived at Kyoto university, but he was not molested.

Kyodo news agency reported several hundred in a crowd of some 3,000 students hoisted placards and sang the Communist "Internationale." Police rushed to the scene and kept back the students with clubs.

The emperor, considered divine in Japan before the Allied occupation, was rushed into a building by the university president.

It was the first reported instance of a demonstration against the emperor.

Louisiana Couple Dies When Plane Crashes In Okla.

HEAVENER, Okla., Nov. 12.—(AP)—A Shreveport, La., couple identified as Mr. and Mrs. John R. Hayes, were killed last night when their plane crashed on the south side of Walker mountain 10 miles southeast of here.

Hayes, 46, was president of the Standard Wood Preserving Co., of Shreveport.

The highway patrol said the couple had visited in Oklahoma City yesterday and left at 4 p.m. to return home.

Witnesses said the plane was seen circling several times over the rugged mountainous country, then it climbed and suddenly nosedived into the mountain. There was fog and rain at the time. Fire destroyed the plane.

During the Civil War, camels were used to carry the United States mail.

Jalopy Race Event Won by Bob Paxton

VFW Post the Sole Sponsor of Jalopy Races In Sedalia

Bob Paxton, driving No. 15 owned by Jerry Brown, took the feature event of the jalopy races sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post 2508, Sunday afternoon. The races were held on the race course at 28th and Ingram and under complete supervision of the VFW.

Roll Templeton, driver of 105, winner of the previous racing program was back but was unable to qualify for the feature. However Templeton placed second in the consolation event.

Broyles Is Second In the feature, Sonny Broyles in 69 placed second; Lester Murray, driving 99, was third. There were 25 laps in this event.

Consolation winner was Dan Doty in his 97; Templeton was second and Ed Bahner, driving No. 6, third. There were 15 laps run in this event.

Two trophy dash races of five laps were held. In the first dash M. L. Hopper, driving 88 owned by McGowan Bros., was first; in the second trophy event Bob Paxton in No. 15 was the winner.

Cooper Loses Wheel Donnie Cooper, driving No. 276, gave the fans a thrill during one race when his car lost a wheel on the south curve. Cooper had just slowed down for the muddy curve when the wheel went flying into the air. Other than losing the wheel nothing happened.

The track was wet and muddy and drivers used extreme caution in their driving and at the same time battled all the way for the winning positions.

Cincinnati Tops List of 22 Yet Unbeaten Teams

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Cincinnati, with nine victories, tops a list of 22 unbeaten, untied college football teams today.

Four schools have won eight games. They include Stanford, Valparaiso, Northern Illinois and Bucknell.

Six previously-unbeaten teams suffered defeats this week-end to drop off the select list. They were Rochester, Eastern New Mexico, Morris Brown (Ga.), St. Vincent (Pa.), New Haven (Conn.) Teachers and Centre (Ky.).

Six of the leading teams in collegiate football still boast unblemished records. They are Tennessee (No. 1), Illinois (No. 2), Maryland (No. 3), Princeton (No. 4), Michigan State (No. 5) and Stanford (No. 7).

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The American conference lead, if not the championship itself, will be at stake Sunday when the Cleveland Browns and New York Giants tangle here in a National Football League headliner.

Only one team has given the Browns consistent trouble since they joined the league last year, and that's the Giants. And if any team can stop the Browns' march to a sixth straight pro title—they won four in a row in the All-America conference—that's the Browns.

Cleveland (6-1-0) held tight to its slim lead yesterday by nipping the Philadelphia Eagles, 20 to 17, with a second-half rally, while the Giants (5-1-1) were thumping Sammy Baugh and the Washington Redskins, 28 to 14.

Meanwhile, the Los Angeles Rams pulled into a tie for first place in the National conference by smashing the hapless Chicago Cardinals, 45 to 21. The Rams (5-2-0) now are all even with the Chicago Bears (5-2-0), who lost their first game in six years to the Detroit Lions, 41 to 28.

In other games, San Francisco scored in the last minute to turn back the winless New York Yanks, 19 to 14, and Pittsburgh played heads-up ball to defeat Green Bay, 28 to 7, in a battle of also-rans.

At Cleveland, the Eagles, realizing a defeat would all but end their pennant hopes, took a 10-0 lead at halftime, completely outplaying the Browns. This made most of the 36,571 fans uneasy, as the scoreboard showed the Giants were trimming the Skins.

After the intermission, however, the Browns—who had a net of nine yards lost in rushing in the first half—dominated the play. With Otto Graham tossing two touchdown passes and Lou Groza kicking two field goals, the Browns scored ten points each in the third and fourth periods for the sixth straight win.

Season In MIAA Ends Saturday; Crown Is Shared KANSAS CITY, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The M. I. A. A. football season—the title already settled with Springfield and Kirksville sharing the honor—will end Saturday in a pair of non-conference games.

Springfield's Bears, who nudged into a half interest of the banner by edging Cape Girardeau, 7-6, last Saturday, will meet Missouri Valley, M. C. A. U. champion at Springfield.

Cape Girardeau clashes with Southern Illinois at the Cape.

MCAU Wind-up Comes This Week; Valley Already Has Title

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The William Jewell Cardinals and Central Eagles will meet in the final M. C. A. U. game of the season at Liberty Saturday.

Actually, the championship race ended last Friday with Missouri Valley returning to the throne with a 14-6 victory over William Jewell, 1950 champion, and a sweep of its league schedule.

Except for Missouri Valley's Thanksgiving Day game with California Poly at Marshall, the M. C. A. U. schedule will be completed this week.

Tarkio will play at York, Nebr., Friday. Saturday, Missouri Valley takes on Springfield, co-holder of the M. C. A. U. crown with Kirksville at Springfield.

Football Wash Includes Guess On Bowl Teams

By Will Grimsley NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Monday's football wash and if it's dry enough about bringing it out and putting it in some bowls:

Wouldn't advise anybody, except Georgia Tech, to start making train reservations yet, but here's a premature guess and how the major post-season games will line up Jan. 1:

Rose Bowl—Illinois vs. Stanford. Sugar Bowl—Tennessee vs. Maryland. Cotton Bowl—Texas Christian vs. Kentucky (which will beat Tennessee Nov. 24).

Orange Bowl—Georgia Tech vs. Baylor. Overlooked All-Americans Three of the leading candidates for All-America backfield honors—Princeton's Dick Kazmaier, Kentucky's Babe Parilli and Tennessee's Hank Lauricella—are 1951's football "triplets," so to speak.

All three have names that sound as if they should be violin artists. All three attained greatness without preliminary fanfare.

Kazmaier, who lives in Maumee, Ohio, escaped the notice of the Big Ten's football hotbed because he was so light. Parilli landed in Kentucky, strictly by accident.

A teammate from Rochester, Pa., was invited to the Wildcat campus and Parilli went along just for the ride. The Babe stayed, the teammate didn't. The Vols' Lauricella was spurned by Notre Dame because he was so small and escaped Tulane's coach Henry Frink, a relentless recruiter from his home town of New Orleans.

Now the three of them are making a lot of people sorry. Quote-unquote: Frank Leahy, Notre Dame: "Michigan State wore green uniforms and looked as if they should be us out there. We wore blue—and that proved very fitting for the occasion. That's how we felt."

Scardino Still Trails Tony Scardino of Missouri completed 23 of 42 passes for 365 total yards but still his team lost to Oklahoma, 34-20. Also Scardino fell short of collegiate records.

Don Klosterman of Los Angeles completed 33 Loyola passes for 372 yards this fall. Also Scardino's nine completed passes in a row didn't measure up to Red Bagnell's 14 straight for Penn last year against Dartmouth.

It was bound to happen. Wisconsin's defensive platoon got tired of seeing the offensive boys grab all the glory and did something about it. The defensive unit accounted for two touchdowns and a safety for all the Badgers' points in their 16-7 victory over Penn.

Baylor pulled over some strip-tease stuff to beat Texas, 18-6, in the Southwest's big game of the day. Baylor's sophomore Jerry Coody tantalized the Longhorns all day with naked reverses.

Homecoming For Hubbard Friday The Hubbard Tigers are setting down to some tough practice for their annual homecoming game to be played at Liberty park, Friday afternoon. The Tigers are scheduled to meet Douglass high school of Lexington in this game, which is the final for the Hubbard aggregation this season.

The Sedalians fresh from their victory over Columbia last Friday 26 to 2, are confident they will continue their winning ways. To date the Hubbard team has won 3, lost 2 and tied one, the latter game is under protest. The Douglass team fell victim of the Tigers early in the season, but since that game have improved considerably and have won three consecutive games.

The Joplin high school was scheduled to play in Sedalia this week, but due to circumstances beyond the jurisdiction of Hubbard, the team was unable to keep the Sedalia schedule. Lincoln of Kansas City, Sumner of Kansas City, Kas., and Webster Groves were offered bids to play the homecoming after Joplin informed Hubbard the team was unable to come. The teams rejected the bids.

Lexington is anxious to get revenge for the early defeat and win a place for themselves in the M. N. I. A. A. as one of the strong clubs.

6 THE SEDALIA DEMOCRAT—Sedalia, Mo., Mon., Nov. 12, 1951

Review of S-C's Grid Foes-- Upset Tigers Prepare to Take On Upset Hornets This Week

Some people have attributed 1951's unusual weather conditions to the atomic bomb test, but nobody has been able to give a sound reason for some daffy high school football results turned out by Smith-Cotton and its opponents. More of the same may be in store Friday night when the Tigers take a trek to North Kansas City to battle the Hornets.

The latest examples of this daffy type of ball were recorded last Friday. Smith-Cotton played at Mexico and was a top-heavy favorite for the victory since Missouri Military Academy's Colonels had lost to St. Peters of Jefferson City, 40-18. But the Colonels pulled the biggest upset of the season in the Central Missouri Conference by nipping the Sedalians 18-14.

Then at Raytown Friday night the Blue Jays played host to the unbeaten North Kansas City Hornets. Since Raytown had dropped its first game in 17 outings the previous week to Sedalia, they were a two touchdown underdog. However, Raytown proved to be in top form and handed the Hornets the worst defeat they have received in recent years—a 35-0 shellacking.

On a round about basis of comparison scores other than the Raytown-Sedalia game, the Hornets should have rated to be the big favorites. They gave Springfield a 34-6 lacing and Springfield returned almost the same favor to the Jefferson City Jays, a team Smith-Cotton was lucky to edge by one touchdown.

In view of what has happened, it is doubtful if even Major Hooper could find the answer to this gridiron riddle. However, it could be partly solved Friday in the Hornet-Tiger clash.

Coach Ralph "Stub" Dow, head man at Smith-Cotton, scouted the Blue Jays-Northtown battle and had a good answer why the Hornets failed to live up to expectations.

Instead of the Hornet ends charging or crashing, they shifted with the play and thus were victims of good interference for the winners' ball carriers time after time.

The Tigers stopped the Raytown end runs by crashing and following the ball instead of the play. Alertness on the part of the ends and line-backers was the prime instrument in S-C defense against Raytown, something NKC failed to produce.

Dow described the Hornets as a big and ability loaded eleven, but a team that was as confused as a surprised band of Tigers against MMA's passing attack out of the spread formation—the Hornets just didn't know how to cope with the end sweeps.

Dow expects plenty of trouble Friday night and fears the Bengals may catch the Hornets on the rebound. Northtown, besides their lone loss, has been tied once and has notched six victories. They are the newly crowned champions of the tough Pony Express conference.

Coaches Fear Games After SoCal Upset

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Coaches and athletic directors of the country's top football teams—a cautious lot—were walking around their campuses with their fingers crossed today, afraid even to think of the games coming up.

Every time they begin to think of the coming bowl games and perhaps start figuring what's going to be in the cash box, they shudder and think back to what happened to Southern California.

The big, powerful Trojans were the shoe-ins of the Pacific Coast conference.

But Stanford, completely overlooked before the start of hostilities, crashed the Trojan hopes Saturday with a 27-20 victory.

In the Big Ten, Illinois—another school overlooked in the pre-season dope—boasts a 4-0 mark after trouncing Iowa, 40-13, Saturday. Michigan, in second place, has a 3-1-0 mark. Then comes Wisconsin (2-1-1) and Purdue (2-1-0). All four have two conference games to play.

Illinois tangles with Ohio State and Northwestern, Michigan meets the same pair while Wisconsin goes against Iowa and Minnesota. If defending champion Michigan wins, the Wolverines won't go to the Rose Bowl, since a Big Ten rule prohibits the same school from playing there two years in a row.

Illinois needs only one win of its two remaining games for at least a share of the title.

Tennessee probably is the only team that can take things moderately easy—with the exception of Georgia Tech, which already has accepted an invitation to the Orange Bowl in Miami. The Vols, masters of the Southeastern conference, had a 60-14 limbering up exercise at the expense of Washington and Lee and need worry only about Kentucky.

Even if the slow starting behemoths from the Blue Grass should beat Tennessee, Gen. Bob Neyland's outfit would get into some bowl—Sugar, Cotton or Orange. Babe Parilli and his Kentucky outfit could do it, too. They trimmed Tulane, 37-0, Saturday.

Tony Scardino Passes Sooners Dizzy, Sets New Big 7 Marks

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Tony Scardino, an 18-year-old freshman who was a B team man until three games ago, promises to develop into one of the finest passers in Big Seven conference football history.

Tony—Anthony is the real name—erased the Missouri records set by the great Paul Christman in the late 1930s as he pitched the Tigers into a real battle with Oklahoma's title-bound Sooners Saturday.

Oklahoma won its fourth conference game against no defeats, 34-20, but not until Scardino had completed 23 of 42 passes for 365 yards and left the game with less than five minutes remaining with a groin injury.

The 5-foot 9-inch rookie from Kansas City had a completion string of nine tosses before missing. That tied the record by Oklahoma's Jack Jacobs against Kansas in 1941. Christman's old Missouri mark of 16 out of 35 for 310 yards came against Kansas State in 1936.

At least six more Scardino passes could have been completions. He didn't throw a bad one until the fourth quarter. Many of his passes were spot tosses—like a catcher pegging second base. And his receivers in the early quarters proved glue-fingered. Halfback Junior Wren caught nine of them for 160 yards, another Missouri record.

All passes were from the spread formation. Missouri seldom used its split T and made only 12 yards on the ground.

Missouri's chances of beating Kansas State at Columbia this Saturday depends on how rapidly Scardino heats from his Oklahoma injuries. He's been hurt twice before, breaking both ankles during his high school days.

But even Scardino's great passing couldn't equal the overall power of Oklahoma. The victory over Missouri was the Sooners' 24th consecutive Big Seven success. Actually, Oklahoma hasn't lost in 27 conference games, having two victories before Kansas tied the Sooners 13-13 in 1947.

Oklahoma will meet Iowa State at Norman Saturday. Iowa State was upset by Nebraska and John Bordogna's passing, 34-27, at Ames, Iowa. Sophomore Bordogna hurled three third-quarter touchdowns in leading Nebraska to its first 1951 victory.

Other conference activity this week will find Colorado, 54-0 victor over Utah, at Nebraska. Kansas, which rallied from a 20-7 halftime deficit to beat Loyola of Los Angeles, 34-26, will meet Oklahoma A. and M. at Stillwater.

Kansas State, operating from a spread, showed its finest scoring punch in recent years but lost to Tulsa, 42-26. Freshman George Carter took in two touchdowns passes from Lane Brown to spark the K-State offensive.

Body of Sportsman, Drowned Saving His Third Wife, Found CASABLANCA, Morocco, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The body of a cafe society sportsman, Freddy McEvoy, 43, who drowned last Tuesday trying to save his third wife, was found Saturday by fishermen in Oualidia lagoon, near where his storm-driven yacht foundered.

Three other bodies—two of them women—also were found in the lagoon. The women were identified tentatively as McEvoy's wife, Claude, 30, and her maid, Cecile Bruneau, 22. The third was believed to be one of three sailors who perished when McEvoy's

Tommy Bolt Wins North-South Golf In Surprise Finish PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Tommy Bolt, the Texan who plays golf out of Durham, N. C., has "created some thunder," as Cary Middlecoff put it, and finally crashed into the big winner's circle of professional golf.

The 33-year-old Bolt, in his sixth year as a professional, has a $1,500 check in his pocket today to go along with the walking-on-air feeling after coming in with a three-under-par 69 to win the $7,500 North and South Open by three strokes yesterday.

Bolt's 283 total was five under par for 72 holes.

John Barnum, the giant Grand Rapids pro who holds the Michigan Open title, was as much a surprise as Bolt in charging up to take second place and earn $1,000 with his 286. Barnum had to shoot a 75 Tuesday to qualify for the tournament as his record wasn't gaudy enough to earn him an invitation.

Third Annual Farm Forum Nov. 19 & 20

The third annual Missouri Farm Forum will be held at Columbia, Mo., Nov. 19 and 20. Each session starts at 10 a.m. and adjourns at 4 p.m.

The general topic is: "The American Way of Life; Can We Preserve It?"

The program will be as follows:

Monday, Nov. 19

Presiding, F. A. Middlebush, president, University of Missouri; "Preserving the American Way of Life," Dr. W. M. Curtis, Foundation of Economic Education, Irvington-on-the-Hudson, N. Y.; "Our Foreign Policy," by a member of the U.S. Department of State, Washington, D. C.; "Reconciling Our Domestic and Foreign Policy," Dr. L. J. Norton, department of agricultural economics, University of Illinois, Urbana; noon recess; summary of comment by forenoon speakers; panel discussion, moderator, President F. A. Middlebush; adjournment at 4 p.m.

Tuesday, Nov. 20

Presiding, Dr. Delos C. Johns, eighth district Federal Reserve Bank, St. Louis; "Financing Our American Way of Life," Dr. E. G. Nourse, formerly presidential economic advisor, Washington, D. C.; "Meeting Our National Budget Requirements," speaker to be announced; "Morality in Government," the Rev. C. E. Lemmon, minister, First Christian church, Columbia; noon recess; summary comment by forenoon speakers; panel discussion, moderator, Dr. Delos C. Johns; adjournment at 4 p.m.

The forum offers a rare opportunity for farm people to hear discussed vital problems by prominent leaders. Everyone is invited to attend either or both days.

According to reports, several leaders in the agricultural and home economics field in Pettis county are planning to attend. The county extension office will serve as a clearing house on transportation. Anyone taking his car who has room for some extra passengers is invited to phone 457. Also anyone wishing a ride don't hesitate to call the same number.

Sherman Pritchard has seeded most of the 47 acre field that he terraced this fall to wheat. These terraces were built with a bulldozer and finished with a grader. Sherman is well pleased with the way the terraces drained out following the recent rains.

The O. O. Ginns of Knob Noster have raised about 1,650 turkeys this season. Their death loss has been small and those lost died early, before they had eaten much feed. Consequently the Ginns hope to have a nice return from their years turkey crop.

Elliot Schupp has reported a 10-acre field of corn yielding over 100 bushels per acre. Elliot followed recommended practices in obtaining this yield. Some of the practices he followed included growing sweet clover ahead of the corn, plowing under a heavy application of manure and using a good starter fertilizer.

Mr. Schupp has also done well with his wheat crop. His entire 50 acres averaged 28 bushels and one 15 acre field made 35 bushels. It was the Vigo variety and he said the entire crop for seed.

Insulate Concrete Stock Tank at Farm Pond So It Will Not Freeze In The Winter

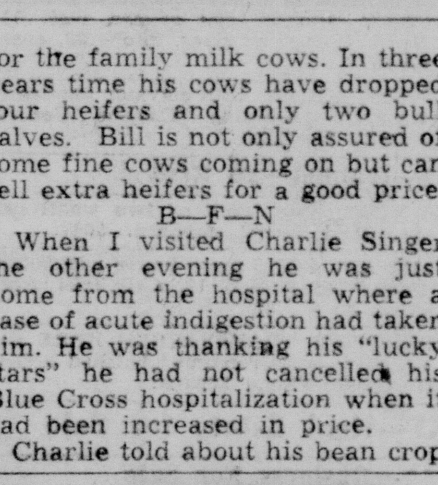

Mr. Schanz (left) is laying concrete blocks for the retaining insulating blocks around the tank itself. Two layers of brick wall while Associate Co. Agent Merle Vaughan (right) is laying have been laid on the back two thirds of the tank. A top made up of slabs of concrete will be put on these bricks and the whole covered with earth. This raised rear portion is necessary to allow the float on the cutoff valve to operate freely.

In this picture the retaining wall which holds the earth back on the tank is complete. Mr. Schanz is bolting in place a board that extends down into the water and will keep cold air from circulating over the water in the back part of the tank. The concrete apron around the tank can also be seen. In freezing weather a plug is taken out of the top of the overflow pipe so a small amount of water is continually running thru this overflow pipe which goes under the apron and keeps the drinking compartment free of ice.

County Agent Roy Copen is examining the stock tank built at Harold Schanz this summer using the Farm Bureau's re-usable forms. The tank is approximately 7' long x 3' wide x 2 1/2' deep and holds 325 gallons.

Cold Weather Brings Concern For Livestock; Plan for '52

Cold weather makes livestock producers think about feed for their animals. Grass silage is being used by increasing numbers of producers. It is not too soon to think about feed supplies for a year from now.

The following suggestions, reports and experiences of farmers with grass silage are worthy of your consideration. This comes from Circular 584 published by the Missouri Agricultural Extension Service, entitled "Experience With Grass Silage in Missouri." This publication may be received free upon request at the county extension office 118 1/2 West Third, Sedalia.

Sixty-two questionnaires from farmers with experience with grass silage were used in compiling this information.

The average yield of grass silage was seven tons per acre. Twenty-one dairymen from 43 reports reported that grass silage increased milk production. 15 said production was maintained, and one said production was decreased. Eleven reported the body weight was increased, 22 said weight was maintained and two reported decreases in weight. They said grass silage was eaten well, only one reported poor results. Ninety-five per cent expect to continue the use of it.

For dairy cattle, grass silage has a total feeding value about equal to corn silage. It is of special value due to its high content of protein, minerals, and carotene (vitamin A source) being about twice as high in these as is corn silage.

Grass silage may be fed as soon as it is put in the silo, but is usually best to wait at least two weeks.

Normal feeding is 30 to 40 pounds for a 1,000-pound dairy cow with 10 to 15 pounds of hay.

Less protein in the concentrate is needed with grass silage. Watch weight of cattle eating large amounts of grass silage as it is bulky and low in energy.

Even grass silage put up with too much moisture or without sufficient preservative and developing odors—unless rotted—still may be fed. Feed such silage after milking.

Start feed grass silage in small amounts and increase gradually.

Grass silage is fine for growing heifers. It should be given naturally and always fed with some dry roughage.

In summer, this publication says—"A grass silage may be said to be the nearest thing we have to spring pasture for our cows in the dry late summer or in the winter. Since it contains from one and a half to three times as much of the valuable substances, protein, minerals, and vitamins it is just what is needed to supplement the poorer roughages we are often forced to feed, and to improve the quality of the ration in general."

Now as to grass silage for beef cattle this circular in brief says the following: This practice is growing in Missouri. With more emphasis on pasture—livestock farming it seems probable that more grass silage will be used for beef cattle. The questionnaire answered by users of grass silage represented 690 beef cows, 136 sheep and 586 beef steers. Reports show livestock relished grass silage.

Experiments at the college on grass silage show it about equal to sorgho silage. To get a gain of approximately one and one-fourth pounds per head per day on 400-pound steer calves, it required three pounds of shelled corn with legume hay in addition to the grass silage. Similar results were obtained using yearling steers.

Cut Feed Cost, Increase Net Stock Profit

One good way to increase your net income from the dairy cows, beef cattle, hogs and sheep is to reduce your feed cost per unit, says Roy I. Copen, county extension agent.

Are you sure your present feeding program is as good as it can be? You know your feed bill is the biggest item of expense in the production of these items of food. If from 20 to 40 per cent of your total operating cost goes for feed, you're on dangerous ground.

Here are three ways that you may be able to cut down your feed costs.

1. One is to grow plenty of legumes. Legume hay is high in protein, an expensive feed item when you buy it. Four pounds of legume hay will supply as much protein as a pound of oil meal.

2. Another one is to work on your pastures. A good pasture will cut your protein needs about half. It will also cut down the amount of grain you need.

3. A third way is to grow more grain to the acre. You can grow 80 or more bushels of corn per acre for less money per bushel than you can grow half this amount per acre. Use fertilizer, the kind and amount based on soil test. A dollar fertilizer used this way will give you more livestock feed than it will any other way. Fertilizer is one of the lowest cost items of production you have today. Fertilizer costs are up only 50 per cent as compared to feed costs which are up 120 per cent, building costs which are up 140 per cent and labor costs which are up 293 per cent.

19 of County's 4-H Clubs 100 Per. In Projects

Nineteen of the 32 affiliated 4-H clubs of Pettis county attained 100 per cent completion of all projects by members last year, according to records at the County Extension office.

Average of the county for project completion was 90.3 per cent, which is a splendid record. The number of 100 per cent clubs is very high.

The clubs and their percentages are as follows:

Beaman Arator, 70.6 per cent; Bothwell, 53.3; Brown, 100; Bunker Hill, 100; Elder Ridge-Oak Grove, 85.7; Flat Creek, 92.8; Georgetown, 80.9; High Point, 83.3; Hillview, 85.7; Hughesville Happy Helpers, 100; Ionia, 100; Lamine, 100 per cent; La Monte, 66.2; Longwood Neighbors, 100; Lovelace, 33.3; Manila, 88.2; Maplewood, 92.3; Oak Point, 100; Pacific, 100; Pleasant Green, 100; Prairie Ridge, 100.

TWO-WHEEL SPREADER
with built-in, quick-acting hitching and loading jack...

The NEW MM 15000 SPREADER has the features you want! Extra large feed ratchet for 5 ranges of feeding gives controlled spreading from 5 to 15 loads per acre. New side extension shields for the upper spreader are flanged to prevent wrapping of lower manure around the shaft. The low set wheels and box make loading much easier and faster. This new spreader can be backed into barns with the ease of a go-cart.

MM sturdy construction, heavy-duty bearings, and extra-heavy axle and shafts assure long life with minimum maintenance. The main frame of this big 75 bushel spreader is reinforced with heavy-duty steel angles and large gusset plates to give extra strength to the rider. Sideboard edges are also protected with long, heavy-duty steel angles. The crescent-treated wooden bottom prevents rot and deterioration.

Data Found to Explain Stock Deaths; Eat Poisonous Plants

Some pertinent information comes from a member of the staff of the University of Missouri, A. A. Case, veterinary scientist. This information says, Roy I. Copen, county extension agent, may help clear up some questions that have arisen in the livestock producers' minds about death losses this year.

This information is as follows: There have been wide spread and numerous reports of loss of farm animals, mostly beef type calves, from many sections of Missouri from eating poisonous plants. These plants are chiefly those of the nightshade group. Very abundant this year and present on nearly every farm reporting sick animals is the common bull nettle, also called horse nettle, or Carolina nightshade. All parts of the plants are poisonous but the green berry-like fruits are especially so. In several instances the black nightshades or deadly nightshade and groundcherry were also present.

Even common Jimson weed and new-growth black locust are being eaten by cattle with heavy losses resulting.

White snakeroot has also been involved in a number of instances where the cattle were grazing wooded pastures. This is a cumulative poison and calves nursing cows may die before the cow shows symptoms. The milk contains relative high amounts of the poison. This milk would also cause "milk sickness" of man or any other animal drinking such milk.

Losses started about the middle of September and have become numerous during the latter part of October. This is probably due to a long, favorable growing season for the toxic plants which persist after the usual pasture plants have dried up and gone to seed or become so tough and unpalatable that the animals have turned to grazing the poisonous plants, in such instances, almost exclusively. Then, trouble soon starts.

Usually, the first symptom noticed is a peculiar stiffness of the shoulders when the animal walks; then the animal quits eating but may be very thirsty. The nose and mouth are dry and the pupil of the eyes are widely dilated even though the animal may be in the bright sunlight. Some animals show a delirious mental state but most of them are dull, depressed and have a subnormal temperature. A weak, weaving, staggy gait soon develops and progressive dropsy sets in. Some of the animals show a fetid bloody diarrhea in the final stages. Sick animals die within a week or so after first noticed sick.

Family Holds Reunion, Has Basket Dinner

Mrs. Herbert Hansen

LINCOLN — A family reunion and basket dinner was held at the high school building in Lincoln Sunday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Will Bennet of Garden Grove, Calif., who are guests of relatives here.

Those present for the occasion were the honored guests, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mothersbaugh, Margaret and Wilma, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Mothersbaugh and sons all of Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Mothersbaugh, Earl Leroy and James Loyd, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Woolery and Carolyn and Mrs. J. O. Mothersbaugh, all of Clinton; Mr. and Mrs. Shelton Ball and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Mothersbaugh and Virginia, all of Versailles; Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Stevens and children, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Relis Wilson and sons of Windsor; Jess and Tom Wilson, Allison, Frazee of Warrensburg; Mr. and Mrs. Rose Mothersbaugh, Sedalia; Mrs. Ivy Mothersbaugh, John Holloway, Mrs. B. H. Lynch and Shirley and Mr. and J. P. Thomson.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Bryan of Warrensburg were supper guests of Mrs. Bell Chaney and daughter last week. The Bryans are former residents of this community and have sold their farm home here to Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bittz.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. West and children of Nebraska City, Neb., and Aubrey Graves of Marshall visited a few days last week with their parents and sister, Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Graves, south of town.

Mrs. Rispy McDaniels of Kansas City has been visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Cole. Mrs. Cole has been ill and recently returned from Kansas City where she had been in a hospital. Billie McDaniels accompanied his mother here and spent last week visiting with his aunt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Briggs, near Roseland.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wisdom have returned home following several weeks visit in Texas with their daughters and families. They were accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Fiedler of Olathe.

Among those from here who attended the wiener roast which was held on the Hansen Branch last Thursday night were: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Davis and granddaughter, Judy Kay Michael, Mrs. Irvin Boring and son, Larry, Leroy Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lehman and sons.

Mayor R. S. Carney, Glen Lehman, Wallace Poague and H. F. Hansen attended a charter night dinner and meeting of the Methodist Men's club which was held at the civic club rooms in Versailles Wednesday night. Guest speaker was Lem Jones of Kansas City, president of the United Churchmen's organization.

Mrs. Anna Martin and her daughter, who has been her guest, Mrs. John Whitall of St. Louis, visited in Warsaw Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Drake.

Mrs. C. H. Carpenter and daughter, Glenn Dell, made a business trip to Springfield last week and while there visited a few days with Mrs. Carpenter's grandson and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hare and Steve.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hare of Sedalia visited over the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Enloe Williams at Stover and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hare and sons at Lincoln. Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hare and son of Springfield were also guests at the Hare home in Lincoln last week and visited with Mrs. Hare's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Riecke at Ionia.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Heerman and son, Dennis, returned Monday following a two-week visit in Illinois with Mrs. Heerman's grandparents and other relatives. Mr. Heerman was attending a two-week school which was held at the Hotel Knickerbocker in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis and children spent the week-end near Platte City with Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Leipert.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Hansen and

SAVINGS GOING UP—At the rate Americans are saving, 1951 may be the biggest year since 1947 for "liquid" savings. Newschart above shows the amount of money put into banks, bonds, insurance and other savings since 1941. Security Exchange officials say the rise is due to consumer good scarcities and credit control restraints which make it more difficult to spend money.

children and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Poague were dinner guests at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. George Winton in Cole Camp Friday. Other guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Daily Linval and children, Mrs. Rufus Tobash and son, Rodney, and Miss Mary Hieronymus, all of Cole Camp.

James Chaney was taken to the hospital in Windsor Friday night suffering from asthma and a light form of pneumonia. Mrs. Chaney is staying with relatives in Windsor to be with her husband. Guy Williams is caring for their farm while they are away.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gedrts and Dorothy and their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and children, all of Red Oak, Iowa, spent the week-end here with Mrs. Gert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kreuger.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Poague and children of Kansas City visited with relatives here Saturday and were accompanied home by Mr. Poague's mother, who will spend a week visiting with her son and family.

Fred Owens, Wilma Owens, Mrs. J. H. Brown of Colorado and Patty and Tommie Butler accompanied Mrs. Amos Owens and daughter to Windsor Thursday where they spent the day visiting at the home were dinner guests of Mr. Owens' daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Austin. Mrs. Brown remained for a week's visit.

Seven of Newest Books of Fiction Now at Library

Seven of the newest fiction books published have been entered on the shelves at the Sedalia Public Library and are now available to readers.

Included are these: "Moses" by Asch, the life of Moses in fiction; "This Was Tomorrow" by Beebe, the latest in the Williamsburg series; "Melville Goodwin, USA," by Marquand, a character study with drama and action; "The Cruel Sea," by Monserrat, a surging novel of men, war and sea; "The Duke's Daughter," by Thirkell, for Thirkell fans; "Hardrock and Silver Sage," by Santee, an illustrated Western; and "Anna, Where Are You?" by Wentworth, Miss Silver pursues murder in an artist colony.

The 2,500,000 increase in U. S. population in 1950 is attributed to the near-record birth rate.

The sewer system of Columbus, Nebr., once was privately owned.

CRIME Foe Wins—Rudolph Halley, ace crime investigator for the Kefauver Committee and "star" of television coverage of its hearings, was elected president of New York City's Council in his first bid for public office. Halley, running on an Independent - Fusion - Liberal ticket, far outstripped the Democratic and Republican opposition for the No. 2 job in New York City. Now 37, he is regarded as a probable future mayoralty candidate.
